ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

SHORT COURSE BANQUET AT M. E. CHURCH WELL ATTENDED.

TALKED OF AN ADVISOR

Many Speakers Said That One is Needed Here—Other Subjects Were Discussed.

The banquet at the end of the short course has proved itself to be perhaps the most popular portion of the whole week's instruction and entertainment. About one hundred and seventy-five people gathered at the First Methodist church last night to partake of the feast provided and to get more of the real short course spirit by listening to the speakers of the evening. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested by the people and everyone seemed to feel that a very profitable week had been spent.

After the banquet, which, by the way, everyone of the speakers complimented very highly, Rev. Mr. Cox sang "Mother 'o Mine" in his very charming manner.

W. O. Garrett, toastmaster, then made a short talk, saying that, as the instructors from the university would have to leave before the close of the evening he would call on some of them, introducing Dr. Whitten first. The speaker who has been a favorite with the people ever since his arrival, made a very pleasing talk, saying that it was not always his privilege to come to the richest agricultural section of the world and, too, that he did not tell this everywhere he went. Dr. Whitten ended by saying that it was really an inspiration to come to this short course and that he would look forward to the next one with a great deal of pleasure.

C. D. Bellows talked on "The New Kind of Farmer." "The farmer of today," said Mr. Bellows, "is vastly different from the farmer of twenty years ago, just as the farmer of twenty years hence will be different from the one of today. The land of today is worth from three to five times what it was twenty years ago and its virgin fertility is depleted about one-half. The rapid wearing out of the soil is due largely to the rental system of today. I should recommend a renter's contract which would include a rotation of crops, the raising of so many animals yearly and that a certain per cent of the crops raised on the farm should be utilized there." Mr. Bellows also advocated the farm advisor very strongly and as an example cited Pettis county and their entire satisfaction with their advisor, Mr. Jordan.

The toastmaster next introduced Professor E. A. Trowbridge of the university. "Nodaway county stands for more agriculturally than any county in the state," said Mr. Trowbridge, "and the university considers it a privilege to be of any assistance that it may." The speaker said that he had attended many short courses but this is the only one where there is an annual banquet. This, according to him, means fully as much as the week of instruction which precedes it. The short course then should mean to us better crops, better farms, and, above all, an increase in brotherly feeling and cooperation.

The secretary bird, John I. Hoffman, was the next speaker, who talked on the farm advisor and why we should have one. Mr. Hoffman says that the leading farmers would vote for this now, but it is our duty to carry the message to the ones who are skeptical. The people are now congested in the cities, and soon there will be a counter migration. It is then that the farm advisor will be especially needed.

The farms will become smaller and the methods will become intensified, and no one save a skilled agriculturalist will be able to make a success of farming.

Prof. H. L. Kempster of the university followed Mr. Hoffman, demonstrating the fact that he could talk about something else beside hens. His talk was replete with witicisms and he took the house by storm. As evidence that the people are pretty well acquainted with Mr. Kempster by this time, it was noticed that when he was introduced several people nudged their neighbors and settled back for a good hearty laugh.

Professor Cameron of the Normal, who took the place of Dr. Taylor, as he was unable to attend on account of sickness, talked freely as to why the farmers did not consider that they need a farm advisor. The fact that the average farmer has gained approximately half the value of his farm by the increased valuation of land and without any effort on his part whatever, gives him a rather self-satisfied feeling, which makes it hard to see that he needs any assistance.

Mr. Henry Moore was the next speaker, who gave a complete vindication of "book larnin'," impressing on his hearers that the book farmer was the big factor in the farming proposition of tomorrow. Mr. Moore also strongly favors the county advisor.

One of the Union township boosters, C. G. McMillen of Pickering, talked on the good roads of that township, and told of what they were doing with the $15,000 bond issue. About $5,000 was spent for road implements, such as graders, scrapers, steel road drags, road plows, etc. The other $10,000 is being spent on the roads for labor. Union still has $15,000 coming to it from the state to use on roads. And the bonds were all sold to Union township people, and the money spent for labor is being received by Union township men, as they are doing the work. Cement culverts to the number of 200 have been constructed in that township recently, twenty hills were cut down and hollows filled three and a half miles of river bottom road graded up high, a number of miles of upland road graded and in good condition, narrow road made wider, and all underbrush and shrubbery to obstruct views of corners or roads were all cut down so people have a clear view.

These are just a few of the improvements Union township has made recently on roads.

Mr. McMillan was followed by Mr. H. W. Hull, who talked on "Smoothing the Way." Mr. Hull's text was "Blessed are they who keep the roads in shape." An interesting discussion was given on the question of good roads, and the fact was brought out that if it were not for the good roads and the automobiles that the banquet could hardly have been such a success.

W. B. Gex's talk on sociability was very interesting, and all might take a lesson from the people on route 1. The telephone and the mail carrier were two very important factors in promoting the good feeling that exists out that way.

Mr. D. R. Eversole, who was the next speaker, gave the farmers a few pointers on how to be successful. Mr. Eversole maintains that the farmer should go home now, after the short course, and give all these things which they have heard this week a try and farm according to some definite plan. Two other things that are well to remember are to cut out laziness and to systematize your town coming

One of the noticeable things of the feast was the Union township representation, who were seated at one table, which was decorated by their good roads banner. They all came from Pickering in cars especially for the banquet. The members of the party were E. D. Houston, C. G. McMillen, Omar Strong, J. Hutcheson, R. Wray, H. Wray, M. H. Hall, C. G. Swinford, C. C. Moon, O. G. Null, C. B. Leach, G. H. Swaney, Prof. G. W. Somerville, F. M. Wallis, I. Neal, H. Rutherford, J. L. Neal, W. Hinton, J. Everhart, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Pollock of Trenton, Mo.; J. Braniger, F. Alexander, Fred Monroe of Hopkins, J. A. Wiley and Omer Wray.

ELIJAH FORD A VICTIM OF GRIP FRIDAY NIGHT.

THE FUNERAL MONDAY

Last Rites Then For Father of J. A. Ford—Had Been a Resident of County Over Half a Century.

Elijah Ford, well known as one of the best men of our county, passed away at midnight Friday night, at his home, corner of First and Market streets, of grip, after an illness of eight days. Mr. Ford had been in feeble health several years, and his weakened body, together with the general decline incident to old age, was not able to rally from the attack.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, conducted by Rev. S. D. Harkness.

Mr. Ford was a native of Pulaski county, Kentucky, and was born at Somerset, October 3, 1827. He grew to manhood there, and soon after decided to try his fortune in Northwest Missouri, to where many from his section of Kentucky were emigrating. He settled first at Savannah in 1852, and a short time later came to Nodaway county to locate, but returned to Savannah. In 1856 he came to Nodaway county and bought a farm four miles east of Maryville, which he brought to a high state of cultivation, the farm being known as the Highland Park stock farm. Mr. Ford was one of the most prosperous farmers in the county. March 8, 1861, he married Miss Catherine McClain, a native of Nodaway county. Their wedding was one of the most notable of that day and was attended by so many people that it was said the whole of Nodaway county were the wedding guests. They had one child, James A. Ford of this city, who survives with the mother.

About thirty years ago Mr. Ford sold his farm and moved to Maryville and lived at 506 East First street, and six years ago purchased the property at the corner of First and Market streets, which was his home at the time of his death.

Mr. Ford was one of the most unassuming of men, and only those who knew him well were aware of his strength of character, and his gentleness and kindness under all circumstances was as tender as that of a woman. The sympathy of all will go out to his wife, especially, who for nearly fifty-two years has been a sweet, true, constant companion to him.

FUNERAL SATURDAY.

Services Were Held at Family Home Southeast of Skidmore.

The funeral services for Jacob Baugher, who died Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock at his home, six miles southeast of Skidmore, were held Saturday morning at the family home at 10 o'clock by Rev. C. H. Sauceman of the M. E. church, South, at Craig.

The pallbearers were P. P. Shull, W. A. Little, Riley Dakan, J. M. Charles, T. I. McNeil and Albert Forcade.

Mr. Baugher was born in Rockingham county, Va., May 30, 1842, and came to Missouri in 1855, locating in Howard county. Two years later he came to Nodaway county and settled on a farm southeast of Graham. He bought the farm on which he died, which is located six miles southeast of Skidmore, in 1870. It contained 294 acres of raw unimproved land, which he brought to its present high state of cultivation. He was married forty years ago to Miss Samantha Cook, a daughter of the late Fayette Cook of near Skidmore, who survives him. Seven children were born to them, three of whom are deceased. The living children are Mrs. Mary Sutterlin of Graham; George E. Baugher, Mrs. Cora Shull and Mrs. Mary Patterson of Skidmore.

Mrs. Catherine Brady has sold her residence property, corner of Davis and Jenkins streets, to John Wertz, consideration $1,000.

WOODROW GOT IT

ALL DOUBTS CLEARED UP AS TO NEXT PRESIDENT.

BUILDING THE CABINET

Official Washington Has Its Hands Full, But Still Finds Time to Suggest Names.

(By W. C. Van Cleve.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The last lap in the race for president of the United States was run today and Woodrow Wilson is at last elected. The electoral college met, canvassed the votes of the several states and formally declared an election. This proceeding is accompanied with considerable red tape and a suitable amount of senatorial dignity. Precisely at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, as the constitution prescribes, the members of the senate journey over to the house, the house suspends business, the speaker delivers his gavel over to the president pro tem. of the senate and the two branches of the congress go into joint session.

On this particular occasion Senator Bacon of Georgia presided, and stated with great seriousness that the business at hand was of such profound importance and significance that any applause from any source would not be in order and would violate all the precedents. This injunction was strictly observed until Utah cast four votes for William Howard Taft, when somebody started applause, and it spread to all parts of the room. It was the first crumb that had fallen his way. Two tellers were appointed from the senate and two from the house. Senator Dillingham of Vermont and Senator Martine of New Jersey, and Representatives Rucker of Missouri and Young of Michigan were the tellers, and announced the votes of the states by turns.

This proceeding consumed about an hour and a half, when the list of states was completed, and Senator Bacon declared that Woodrow Wilson had received 435 of the 531 votes cast for president. Theodore Roosevelt of New York had received 88 votes and William H. Taft had received 8 votes. The Taft electors voted for Nicholas Murray Butler of New York for vice president, Vice President Sherman having died. The formal announcements were ordered on the journals of the senate and house and they shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of the election. There is no further notice given to the president-elect. The nominees of the political parties are notified of their nominations by special messengers, but the newly elected president must take newspaper accounts for his notice or come down and search the journals of the house and senate.

A significant featur of the proceedings was that they fell on Lincoln's birthday. So the day commemorates the emancipation of the people in the fullest sense.

Governor Wilson may now feel justified in announcing his cabinet and thus relieve himself of a great deal of annoyance and the public of much curiosity. The only announcements so far made are Mr. Tumulty, with the accent on the Tum, who will be the president's secretary, and he in turn has selected Daniel O'Reagan for his secretary. This beginning indicates that the sons of the emerald isle will be well cared for, and both hail from the state of New Jersey. The cabinet makers are as much in the dark as ever. There are a number of slates announced as the final guesses, but nothing official has gotten into the capitol yet. There is a rumor that the cabinet will be announced this week. During the past two weeks there has been considerable politics apparent in the work of the house, with two opposing forces at work, one to promote certain cabinet timber and the other industriously deadening it. The state of Texas, for instance, has two candidates for the cabinet in the persons of Representatives Henry and Burleson. Pennsylvania has also two prospects in the persons of Representatives Palmer and Wilson. There has been a persistent rumor for weeks that ex-Senator Obediah Gardner of Maine would be made secretary of agriculture. Mr. Gardner is a good man and a good Democrat, but it has been difficult for the residents of the great central west to believe that a man from Maine would be given the post of secretary of agriculture. Many from the Mississippi valley have been urging the appointment of Jack Walters, formerly of Missouri but now with the Kansas agricultural college.

The situation in Mexico begins to look serious. Mr. Taft has been temporizing with the case, hoping to unload it onto the next administration, but he may yet have to take positive action. His foreign policy, as evidenced in Venezuela, Mexico and elsewhere, is spineless and wholly insufficient. From recent reports revolution has given way in Mexico to anarchy, in which American citizens and property are in great danger. There is little doubt that certain American interests are responsible for the beginning of the whole affair, and it may be that we will have to put an end to it yet. Somebody, it is said, got $60,000 when a revolution was being plotted against Diaz, and the promoters of the trouble have plainly started something that Mexico cannot stop, and it may cost this government millions to do so.

Work is going ahead for the inauguration. Great reviewing stands are being erected at a cost of thousands of dollars, and the beauty of the city is very much disfigured. From the number of applications already in for rooms a record breaking crowd is expected. Prices are soaring skyward and the hotel keepers are in high glee. The great quadrennial harvest is near at hand.

The opponents of the liquor traffic feel that they have gained a great victory this week. Both house and senate have passed the Webb bill to "divest alcoholic liquors of their interstate commerce character in certain cases," which means that hereafter, if the president signs the bill, it will be unlawful to ship liquors into prohibition states for any purpose not authorized by the laws of those states. It means that such shipments will become subject to the laws of the state into which they are shipped, and the measure is designed to remove the protecting arm of the federal government upon which law breakers have been frequently wont to rely. Of course there are legal features which will have to be put to the test and on which good lawyers seem to disagree, but, as a matter of common justice, it seems that the people of every state should have the privilege of regulating such matters according to their own wisdom and in their own way without any hindrance from the federal government. The measure is not as far reaching as the Kenyon-Sheppard bill which was pending in the senate, but its friends seem to believe that it will reach the desired end.

Ancient Story With a Modern Message.

"The Creation of Man" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday night at the First M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox.

What does the Bible say about the origin of man? What is the standing of the message in the light of modern knowledge? What bearing has the message upon present day life?

These are some of the questions that will be advanced in the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lorance and Etta Lorance arrived home Friday night from Corpus Christi, Texas. Miss Ruby Lorance, who teaches in Johnson county, Missouri, met her parents in Kansas City and accompanied them home. She will return to her school work Sunday.

WRITES OF THE OIL FIELDS.

Rev. Royston of Barnard Tells of a Trip to Cleveland, Okla., Wells.

Rev. W. E. Royston, pastor of the M. E. church at Barnard, has written the following special letter to the Democrat-Forum about a trip to the oil fields at Cleveland, Oklahoma:

Editor Democrat-Forum:—I will write you a letter on the Oklahoma oil fields which I hope may be of some interest to the Democrat-Forum readers.

On Thursday, January 16, 1913, my brother, Rev. F. R. Royston, and I visited the oil fields at Cleveland where there are 1,000 wells. The first oil well we came to was about six miles west of Cleveland. As we came in sight of this well we could see what we supposed was a fog of steam rolling up through the derrick, and as we neared the derrick we could hear a sizzling sound like that of a mighty steam engine with her escape valves thrown wide open. But when we came to the well we found that the escaping mist and turbulent sounds were nothing more than the earth belching up her oil and gas through iron pipes from a depth of about twenty-four hundred feet. The ground was saturated with oil for several rods around the well, and running down the ravines. We wondered at such a waste, but upon inquiry we were told that a man would be there in a day or two and pipe it out into tanks—for the well was new.

After we satisfied our curiosity there we drove on, passing by huge rocks here and there that lay along the road in ledges and crowned the hilltops with veneration.

Soon we reached the summit of a certain hill four miles this side of Cleveland, and as our eyes were focused toward the southeast, we could see oil derricks by the hundreds seemingly towering the skies. As we looked upon this magnificient net work of derricks with their heads lifted high, we were reminded of a large city in the distance with her lofty domes and reaching steeples.

As we neared Cleveland we could hear the rush and roar of business, equal to that of a large city. After we arrived in the little city of about twenty-five hundred inhabitants, we at once visited several of the seventy-five oil wells in the city. Most of these wells are pumped with large gasoline engines. We think in Missouri that a pump reaching down to a depth of 150 feet after water is great, but think of a pump reaching down after oil to a depth of more than 2,000 feet.

Some of the wells that have gas pressure don't have to be pumped, and the oil runs as freely as water from an artesian well. The largest well of this field has a daily output of 20,000 barrels of oil and requires four 3-inch pipes to tank it. This is now one of the largest oil wells in the United States.

The oil from this region is all sent to eastern refineries, and then tanked and sent to all parts of the world with John D's stamp upon it. However, a large refinery is now under construction at Cleveland and this will make this region a great oil center in the United States.

Land owners of this region are anxious to lease their farms to oil prospecters. One man thinking that I was an eastern capitalist wanted to lease me his farm, but when I informed him that I was a preacher he hushed right up. The oil prospecter leases property of the owner with the privilege of sinking a well where he pleases, giving the owner a small rent on the property and one eighth of the oil if any is found.

After having spent a profitable day in the oil fields we returned home to Blackburn where I was helping my brother in a meeting.

Yours truly,
W. E. ROYSTON.

Valentine Masquerade.

Over 100 people were in attendance at the Valentine masquerade party given Thursday night by the Alert Rebekah lodge. The committee in charge had decorated Odd Fellows' hall appropriately and suitable games, such as Knight of the Black Heart, a potato race, a peanut race and dominoes were provided for all. There was music throughout the evening and a luncheon served in the Rebekah colors, pink and white. The very nice diversion of the evening was the fortune telling tent, fitted up in real gypsy style and Mrs. I. M. Woods made a most satisfactory fortune teller. Mrs. Roy Martin was awarded the first prize for the best costume and Cacey Jones was awarded the second prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Patterson, living seven miles northwest of the city, were surprised Wednesday by their neighbors who came to spend the day with them, bringing baskets filled with good things to eat for the dinner that was spread at 12 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are soon to leave the neighborhood, and this was the occasion of the visit to their old neighbors and friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. McDowell, Mrs. Al Taylor and son, A. J. Kinsley, Mr. and Mrs. John Halasey, Mrs. Elihu Shell, Mrs. Lon Hughes and son, Mrs. Bije Lawson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Osborn, Mrs. L. J. Birthday Surprise Party.

About twenty-five friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Nan Cooper Thursday and gave her a very pleasant surprise in honor of her sixty-third birthday. Well filled baskets were brought and at noon a delicious dinner was served. The afternoon was spent in playing progressive forty-two. Mrs. Cooper was given a handkerchief shower, and at a late hour the guests departed to their home wishing her many happy returns of the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manley, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Ora Carmichael, Mrs. Irvin Peery, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hartness, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Piveral, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Arnold, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Gray, Grandma Gray, Mrs. Chester, Mrs. Drain, Mr. and Mrs. James Gregg, Beulah Hartness, Lucile Drain, Roberta Arnold, Harry Piveral, Milo Gray, Clyde Gregg, Eugene Cooper, Everett Drain, Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper and the honored one.

Valentine Party and Luncheon.

Miss Vernie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomas, entertained twenty-two of her friends with a valentine party Friday evening. Assisting her in entertaining and serving were her sister, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Ethel Ray, Miss Lora Stockton and Miss Mina Armstrong. The rooms were profusely decorated in hearts, smilax, ferns and red carnations, and before the evening closed the hostess had by some magic means succeeded in decorating each of her guests with hearts. Progressive dominoes occupied the first part of the evening, Miss Hermion Fisher and Mr. John McDougal winning the prizes. Various other games were played. The three-course luncheon was novel and elaborate, the word "Hearts" being spelled in the serving. The guests were Misses Hermion Fisher, Ilene Kemp, Gladys Holt, Isora Mutz, Jeannette Mutz, Alma Lucas, Lola Wright, Vada Foland, Helen Helply, Hazel Smith, Golda Roelofson, Ethel Ray, Messrs. Surprise Valentine Class Parties.

The classes taught by Mrs. L. O. Goble and Mr. Fred Kurtz in the First Presbyterian church Sunday school were very pleasantly surprised Thursday evening. Mrs. Goble had invited the young ladies of her class to a Valentine party at her home that evening and Mr. Kurtz had invited the boys of his class to spend the evening at his home. When the young ladies arrived at Mrs. Goble's home she told them she had been invited to bring her guests to Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz's home. The surprise of the two crowds of young people upon meeting each other was funny to see. They soon got their breath, however, and a happy evening was spent playing dominoes. Post card valentines were used as tally cards. The delightful luncheon served was in the form of hearts. The host and hostess were assisted in entertaining by Miss Mabel Wells and Miss Edith Wells. The members of the classes present were Misses Juno Jones, Pearl Barton, Neva Sage, Edith Anderson, Stella Clearman, Ivy Cramer, Nina Jackson, Laura Craig, Mary Lewis, Mary Watson, Jeanette Cottrill, Miss Thompson, Edith Dietz, Lois Farmer, and Messrs. Floyd Cottrill, Jay Barr, John Murray, James Ferris, Fred Hutchison, Kirker Sawyers, Mr. Lash, Robert Brown, Fred Vandersloot, Harvey Watson, and Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Harkness, who were the honor guests of the evening.

Wesleyan Class Valentine Party.

Quite the most successful social event by the Wesleyan class of the First M. E. church Sunday school was given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Matter, 222 West Thompson street, their daughter, Miss Ruth Matter, being a member of the class. The various committees appointed for the affair had done their work so well that everything went off in perfect harmony. The guests were met at the door by Mary Curnutt and received by the class teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth French, and the class president, Miss Nellie Wray. They then went to the dining room, where they were served hot chocolate and wafers by Mrs. Emmett Scott, Mrs. Charles Moore and Miss Ruth Matter. The decoration committee, which was also the entertainment committee, had performed its work well. All the rooms, upstairs and down, had been beautified with red hearts and flowers, and the dining table was lighted by red candles, and carnations were used effectively. Miss Mildred Bellows and Miss Mabel Curnutt presented each guest a heart, those for the boys containing directions for making answer to a proposal—for partners at the games and luncheon. The game of hearts was the game played, and as each one won a game a candy heart was given that permitted the winner to go to the candy store and buy more candy with it. After the games Miss Edith Wilson played several violin numbers. The luncheon was beautiful, small red hearts decorating each square of ice cream, and cake and nuts were served with it. The entertainment committee was composed of Miss Lucile Airy, Miss Lela Caudle and Miss Ada Clayton, and Miss Edna O'Neal and Miss Ora King were the invitation committee. The guests were Misses Neva Airy, Lucile Airy, Allie Fraser, Emma Crandall, Ada Clayton, Bird Briggs, Cleo Grundy, Lorena Holliday, Ora King, Ola King, Edith Wilson, Nellie Wray, Marie Grundy, Lela Caudle, Edna O'Neal, Mary Fordyce, Ethel Embree, Ruby Curnutt, Carrie Margaret Baker, Glen Hotchkiss, Dale Hoffman, Hildred Hanna, Ruth Matter, Alice Ficklin, Mrs. Elizabeth French, Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox, Messrs. Clun Price, Walter Wray, Lona Perrin, Clifford Howendobler, Virgil Hartness, Ernest Hartness, Ralph Strader, James Carpenter, John Mutz, John Hoffman, Roy Wilson, Lester Bennett, Will Jones, Sam Cox, Brint Embree, Clyde Hutton, Lieber Holmes, Frank Miller, Floyd Miller, Randall Johnson.

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS

If Constipated, Bilious, Headachy, Stomach Sour, Get a 10 Cent Box of Cascarets—Take One Tonight.

You men and women who can't get to feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regulated and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.—Advertisement.

NORMAL WON OVER CENTRAL.

And High School Defeated Blanchard Team in Games Friday Night.

Maryville basket ball teams made a clean sweep of basket ball honors Friday night at the Normal gymnasium, when the local high school team defeated the Blanchard high school five in a fast, well played game and the Normals again defeated St. Joseph Central high school in what proved to be a battle of free throws. The score of the Blanchard-high school game was 21 to 17, and the Normal-Central count was 44 to 36.

The two high school teams were seemingly well matched, and all through the locals led from the very start. At no time were the Iowans out of the running. The losers were especially strong in the second half, when they all but overtook the locals. Leech at forward and Wilson at guard twinkled for the locals, while Wakinshaw, who occupied the pivot position for the Iowans, seemed to be their main strength.

In the Normal-Central contest a fast exhibition of the game was made impossible by the immense number of fouls called on both teams. A total of 61 fouls were called on the two teams, 39 of which were called on the Normal men and the crowd. Coach Frank Cassidy of the St. Joseph team was the referee, and although the crowd so forgot their manners at times as to shriek words of violence at the official, it is quite evident that Mr. Cassidy called the offenses just as he saw them, and his ability as a referee cannot be questioned.

Twenty of Central's points were scored on free throws, while the locals counted 14 field goals and 13 from the foul line. The team work of the visitors, particularly that of Johnson and Rohloff, featured their playing. Voss caged 13 free throws in 39 chances.

For the locals Mr. "Buzzard" Daise from Graham, Mo., led in the field goal tossing. He counted six, all of which were gotten in the initial period. Perrin counted four from the field and Captain Vandersloot also captured four field goals and 13 out of 22 free throws. McClintoch played a great game at guard and Taylor played an aggressive game, although he was fouled continually.

The Normal warriors created a sensation when they appeared on the floor to start the game. It seems that several of the Normal girls, most of whom are members of the school team, have not been satisfied with the personal appearance of their knights on the basket ball floor, so late Friday afternoon these same girls stole "with cat-like tread" to the boys' lockers, secured their playing jerseys and beautifully bedecked them with lace. Just imagine the effect! When the boys went to dress for the game they discovered the transformation in their armor, but all were good sports and they appeared for the game in their newly acquired garb.

Following are the line-ups and summaries of the two games:

Blanchard—Forwards, Danner and Russell; center, Wakinshaw; guards, Henderson and McGee.

Maryville—Forwards, Leech and Murray; center, Thompson; guards, Wilson and David.

Summary—Field goals, Wakinshaw 4, Leech 3, Wilson 2, David Russell. Free throws, Russell, 7 out of 14. Leech, 8 out of 16. One point was awarded Maryville.

St. Joseph Central—Forwards, Vose and Schroeder; center, Johnson; guards, Rohloff and Stankowski.

Normal—Forwards, Vandersloot and Daise; center, Perrin; guards, McClintoch and Taylor.

Summary—Field goals, Daise 6, Vandersloot 4, Perrin 4, Schroeder 2, Voss 2, Johnson 2, Rohloff, Stankowski.

Three points were awarded each Referee—Cassidy, St. Joseph Central. Umpire—Westbrook, Maryville high school.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

Mrs. Potts of Topeka, Kansas, arrived in Maryville Friday on account of the critical illness of her daughter, Mrs. Nora Willets.

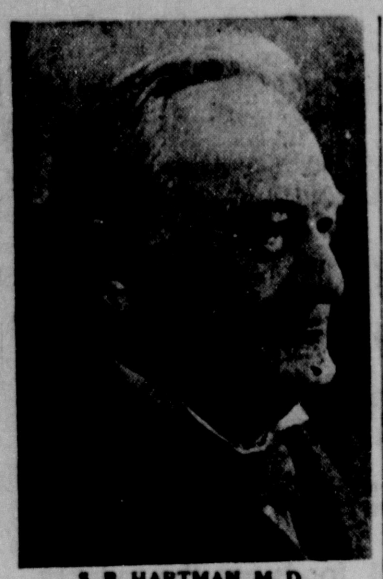
Alcohol In Pe-ru-na-- An Unjust Criticism



S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Having a little business in one of the federal offices of the city, after it was finished I fell in conversation with the official in charge concerning Peruna. I mention his business to show that the conversation was conducted with a man of more than ordinary intelligence, being a employe of the government who had passed through several civil service examinations. He said to me, not knowing who I was:

"I think a great deal of this patent medicine business ought to be stopped. Especially such remedies as Peruna. Peruna, as you know, is a stimulant and contains eighteen or twenty per cent. of alcohol. People take it without knowing what it is, and such remedies ought to be prohibited by law. My own mother took Peruna once. She had a cough, night sweats, was growing emaciated and weak. Several doctors examined her. The opinion was expressed several times that she was going into consumption. One thought it was chronic bronchitis. At any rate, her condition was quite serious. She was unable to get any relief from the doctors she consulted, although she took their medicines faithfully for nearly a year. Some one told her about Peruna, and against my wish and against the wishes of our family, she began taking it. At once she improved, and in less than six months she apparently was well. We did all we could to discourage her in taking Peruna, but she persisted. It finally came out in the magazines that Peruna contained alcohol. Then we knew at once what it was that benefited my mother, it was simply the alcohol that Peruna contained. We had the laugh on mother. We have not ceased to make fun of her yet about her being cured with a dilution of alcohol. She seems to be embarrassed by our teasing her, but is very stubborn. She says that if she were to be sick in the same way again she would certainly get Peruna and take it, alcohol or no alcohol. So you see if people will persist in such foolishness there ought to be a law to prevent them."

I ventured to interpose a question. "You say the doctors could not cure her, and yet you say Peruna did cure her. What difference does it make to you whether it was alcohol or some other drug that effected the cure?"

"Well, I don't know that it makes any difference, but it is deceiving the people to give them alcohol even though it does cure them," he said.

I replied. "Why, I cannot exactly understand that. Alcohol is a drug, the same as quinine or morphin. If alcohol cures certain diseases where is the deception? I understand that the Peruna people print on the label of each bottle the per cent. of alcohol contained in Peruna. Each patient may read it, if he pleases. I cannot see where there is any deception."

"Well, I would not take Peruna," he persisted. "Now, I was sick, I had a stomach disease. A violent pain, that would come on about an hour or two after each meal. It grew worse and worse. I was also constipated. I consulted several doctors in our city about my health. I went to see a prominent specialist in New York City, paid out a great deal of money, but no help. One time I was having a bad spell on the train. The gentleman who occupied the next seat was a retired physician with whom I had been acquainted. He said to me, 'My friend, if you want to get well I would advise you to take a glass of lager beer before each meal. I think that will cure you.' Having followed the directions of several good physicians without any assistance, I thought I would try the beer. In a very short time I found it was helping me, and I got entirely well. My bowels became regular and I had no more pain. No more distress after meals. Now, if my mother had used some remedy like that it would be all right. But to persist in using some secret remedy like Peruna, I think it is outrageous."

Again I ventured to ask some questions. I asked: "What do you suppose it was in the lager beer that effected the cure?"

"Why, I presume it was the stimulant it contained. Yes, no doubt it was the stimulant."

"You know, of course, that the stimulant in beer is alcohol, the same as in wine or whiskey or any other alcoholic drink?"

"Yes, I have heard say that beer contains about five per cent. of alcohol.

"That is correct," I replied. "You took a bottle of beer before each meal, did you?"

"Yes."

"In doing so you were drinking a pint of a five per cent. solution of alcohol."

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Five per cent. would be one-twentieth. As each pint contains sixteen ounces you were then taking a little less than an ounce of alcohol before each meal."

"Yes."

"But you objected to your mother's taking alcohol in the Peruna, and yet she was taking far less alcohol than you were. As I understand it, the dose of Peruna is one tablespoonful. Supposing it to be twenty per cent. alcohol, there would be in each dose one-fifth of a tablespoonful of alcohol, which would be about half a teaspoonful, while you were taking at least four teaspoonfuls of alcohol in your bottle of beer. And yet you objected to your mother's taking Peruna on the ground that the Peruna contains alcohol. In my opinion it was the alcohol that cured both of you. Your mother evidently was cured of a very serious ailment. Peruna contains alcohol. It was undoubtedly the alcohol that cured her, or at least helped to. The other ingredients of Peruna might have assisted, no doubt did. In your case it was the alcohol in the beer that cured you of the stomach difficulty. Peruna has cured thousands of such cases."

"Well, I declare," he replied, "I never thought of it in that way before. There has been so much said about alcohol being poisonous that I suppose my mind has been prejudiced against it. But if as you say there is also alcohol in beer, the same kind of alcohol as is used in Peruna, I cannot see where the difference is myself."

"Well," I replied, "you have been doing exactly what the average man and woman is doing. You have allowed your mind to become prejudiced against Peruna on account of its containing alcohol. Without stopping to look into the matter at all you have assumed that there is something terribly disreputable about remedies containing alcohol. The fact is, however, that most all fluid medicines, whether prescribed by a doctor or put up as a patent medicine, contain a certain amount of alcohol. It was alcohol that cured your mother. It was alcohol that cured you. In my opinion, alcohol in some form or other is making more cures than all other drugs combined. This is not saying, however, that Peruna contains only alcohol, for it does contain excellent remedies besides alcohol. But I do contend that the alcohol in Peruna is not only not harmful to those who take it, but if taken in the doses prescribed on the bottle it will do a great deal of good and there is not the slightest danger of forming a drug habit." PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

BAND STANDS GOOD CHANCE.

To Go to Washington, D. C., for the Suffragettes' Parade March 3.

Miss Alma Nash, director of the Missouri Ladies Military band, received a letter and a telegram Friday from Elizabeth I. Kent of Washington, D. C., chairman of the band committee for the suffragettes' parade at the nation's capital March 3, saying that the 300 Chicago women who expect to be in the parade that day would be asked to help in securing the funds for the expenses of the Maryville Ladies band of Maryville to Washington.

Mrs. Kent writes most encouragingly to Miss Nash, and seems determined to secure the Maryville girls a place in the parade.

Miss Nash also received a letter Friday from Miss Jennie Swavely of Philadelphia, who spent several months in Maryville, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nash, and is quite well known here, in which she inclosed a letter from Miss Della Reboul of Philadelphia, who has quite a reputation in the east as a leader of ladies bands, in which she told Miss Swavely that Alma Nash's band has the first chance for a place in the parade, and there was no use for her to try getting anyone in for herself.

Miss Nash studied under Miss Reboul several years ago when she was in the east, as a member of her band at Atlantic City, and it is indeed a peculiar incident that her pupil should be able to beat her to such a good chance, with a band of young girls that have been organized but little more than a year and with no experience whatever.

Two traveling passenger agents have also visited Miss Nash this week, giving her the best rates that can be secured for the trip to Washington, and offering themselves to act as escort and look after every detail of the trip. They were Mr. D. D. Steeg of Kansas City, traveling passenger agent for the Pennsylvania railway west of the Mississippi, and Mr. George T. Scheer of St. Louis, traveling passenger agent for the Baltimore & Ohio railway.

Everything seems very encouraging for the ladies band, and we hope all will be done that is necessary to secure for them this wonderful opportunity. The Maryville Commercial club is making every effort possible, for if the girls do go they will put Maryville on the map sure.

Mrs. Paul Sawyers of St. Joseph returned to her home Friday evening after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Roelofson.

Mrs. P. J. Lahr went to Pickering Friday to visit her mother, Mrs. Rose Harman.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."

PRESIDENT MADERO RESIGNS

Change of Administration in Mexico.

DE LA BARRA SUCCEEDS

Minister of Interior Hernandez Also Quits His Job.

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—The resignation of Francisco I. Madero from the presidency is believed to be in the hands of the Mexican congress. It was authoritatively stated that Madero had agreed to resign if the senate so wished. The senate was called into session to take action on this important phase of the situation.

At the British legation, where Senor De La Barra took refuge Thursday, it was said that Madero's resignation practically had been arranged for and that De La Barra probably would succeed him in the presidency.

Later Senor De La Barra, while proceeding through the streets in an automobile, stopped and made a brief address, assuring the crowds that a peace settlement was certain and probably would be reached before evening. De La Barra had been in consultation with both Madero and Diaz regarding a quick settlement in order to avoid intervention.

The laws of Mexico make it necessary for the resignation of the president to be submitted to the congress and for this reason official announcement of the resignation of Madero may be delayed considerably, even if already decided upon.

Another development was the resignation of Rafael Hernandez as minister of the interior.

Whether hostilities will be resumed naturally depends on the action of the president and congress.

Madero's Home Burned.

The rebels obtained their first personal revenge when they burned the private house of President Madero, located at Berlin and Liverpool streets. It was a handsome structure and since the incumbency of Madero had become one of the show places of the capital.

The rebels had driven a detachment of federals in retreat along Barcelona street. They emerged on Liverpool street, the rebels at their heels.

Shooting and firing at the fleeing soldiers, the rebels crowded into the aristocratic quarter and the sight of Madero's house inspired the idea of its destruction. Only servants had occupied the house since the members of the president's family took refuge in the Japanese legation.

The rebels entered and carried off whatever caught their fancy. A moment later the building was in flames.

Engagement at Close Range.

A change of tactics marked the close of the military operations. The artillery duel was succeeded by a general engagement at close range, lasting for more than an hour. Federal reserves were called out and from all sides General Huerta prepared to attack. Short range cannon were moved closer to the fortifications, but the battery of heavy guns near the railway station was left to play a prominent part.

The rebels interfered but little with the preparations. They appeared willing for the fight and when it was inaugurated seemed not averse to try conclusions.

Buildings within rifle range of the rebel positions sheltered machine guns and infantry, while heavy detachments massed in the streets approaching the positions from east and west.

Rifles Take Many Lives.

When the government forces began this attack the cannon and small arms of the rebels were put into quick action. In two minutes the city was listening to a new note in the long symphony of battle. The heavy crashing of artillery, to which the inhabitants had become accustomed, was toned down by the rattle of rifle and machine gun fire.

How many fell in this engagement cannot be told, but the number was undoubtedly large. The federal loss was unquestionably greater than that of the rebels.

Occasionally shells from the federal battery at the station fell with accuracy in the big plaza in front of the arsenal. Little damage was done to the structure itself.

The federals were at a disadvantage, because they were compelled to advance, and to do so they had to leave their shelter and crowd into the streets.

It had been said that the Maderistas had planned to dynamite a path through the district in order to make this attack, but if so the plan was abandoned and the attacking party in the narrow streets was swept by the rebel guns with deadly and demoralizing results.

It was the advance of the federals down Balderas street which provoked the first sharp reply from the mutinous zone. Diaz waited until the federals were far down the line, then threw into their ranks a hail of shrapnel and swept them with machine-gun fire. Few left the street alive.

The government troops attempted to carry the rebel position from other directions, but always with the same result; the federals fell with a withering fire or were driven back to shelter.

General De La Vega, commanding the line directly to the east of the rebel position, admitted that he was unable to advance. Failure had been encountered in all quarters. It was coincidental with the cessation of firing that a battalion of the Twentieth infantry revolted. All but a handful of those federals succeeded in joining the rebel ranks.

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

SHORT COURSE BANQUET AT M. E. CHURCH WELL ATTENDED.

TALKED OF AN ADVISOR

Many Speakers Said That One is Needed Here—Other Subjects Were Discussed.

The banquet at the end of the short course has proved itself to be perhaps the most popular portion of the whole week's instruction and entertainment. About one hundred and seventy-five people gathered at the First Methodist church last night to partake of the feast provided and to get more of the real short course spirit by listening to the speakers of the evening. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested by the people and everyone seemed to feel that a very profitable week had been spent.

After the banquet, which, by the way, everyone of the speakers complimented very highly, Rev. Mr. Cox sang "Mother 'o Mine" in his very charming manner.

W. O. Garrett, toastmaster, then made a short talk, saying that, as the instructors from the university would have to leave before the close of the evening he would call on some of them, introducing Dr. Whitten first. The speaker who has been a favorite with the people ever since his arrival, made a very pleasing talk, saying that it was not always his privilege to come to the richest agricultural section of the world and, too, that he did not tell this everywhere he went. Dr. Whitten ended by saying that it was really an inspiration to come to this short course and that he would look forward to the next one with a great deal of pleasure.

C. D. Bellows talked on "The New Kind of Farmer." "The farmer of today," said Mr. Bellows, "is vastly different from the farmer of twenty years ago, just as the farmer of twenty years hence will be different from the one of today. The land of today is worth from three to five times what it was twenty years ago and its virgin fertility is depleted about one-half. The rapid wearing out of the soil is due largely to the rental system of today. I should recommend a renter's contract which would include a rotation of crops, the raising of so many animals yearly and that a certain per cent of the crops raised on the farm should be utilized there." Mr. Bellows also advocated the farm advisor very strongly and as an example cited Pettis county and their entire satisfaction with their advisor, Mr. Jordan.

The toastmaster next introduced Professor E. A. Trowbridge of the university. "Nodaway county stands for more agriculturally than any county in the state," said Mr. Trowbridge, "and the university considers it a privilege to be of any assistance that it may." The speaker said that he had attended many short courses but this is the only one where there is an annual banquet. This, according to him, means fully as much as the week of instruction which precedes it. The short course then should mean to us better crops, better farms, and, above all, an increase in brotherly feeling and cooperation.

The secretary bird, John I. Hoffman, was the next speaker, who talked on the farm advisor and why we should have one. Mr. Hoffman says that the leading farmers would vote for this now, but it is our duty to carry the message to the ones who are skeptical. The people are now congested in the cities, and soon there will be a counter migration. It is then that the farm advisor will be especially needed.

The farms will become smaller and the methods will become intensified, and no one save a skilled agriculturalist will be able to make a success of farming.

Prof. H. L. Kempster of the university followed Mr. Hoffman, demonstrating the fact that he could talk about something else beside hens. His talk was replete with witicisms and he took the house by storm. As evidence that the people are pretty well acquainted with Mr. Kempster by this time, it was noticed that when he was introduced several people nudged their neighbors and settled back for a good hearty laugh.

Professor Cameron of the Normal, who took the place of Dr. Taylor, as he was unable to attend on account of sickness, talked freely as to why the farmers did not consider that they need a farm advisor. The fact that the average farmer has gained approximately half the value of his farm by the increased valuation of land and without any effort on his part whatever, gives him a rather self-satisfied feeling, which makes it hard to see that he needs any assistance.

Mr. Henry Moore was the next speaker, who gave a complete vindication of "book larnin'," impressing on his hearers that the book farmer was the big factor in the farming proposition of tomorrow. Mr. Moore also strongly favors the county advisor.

One of the Union township boosters, C. G. McMillen of Pickering, talked on the good roads of that township, and told of what they were doing with the $15,000 bond issue. About $5,000 was spent for road implements, such as graders, scrapers, steel road drags, road plows, etc. The other $10,000 is being spent on the roads for labor. Union still has $15,000 coming to it from the state to use on roads. And the bonds were all sold to Union township people, and the money spent for labor is being received by Union township men, as they are doing the work. Cement culverts to the number of 200 have been constructed in that township recently, twenty hills were cut down and hollows filled three and a half miles of river bottom road graded up high, a number of miles of upland road graded and in good condition, narrow road made wider, and all underbrush and shrubbery to obstruct views of corners or roads were all cut down so people have a clear view.

These are just a few of the improvements Union township has made recently on roads.

Mr. McMillan was followed by Mr. H. W. Hull, who talked on "Smoothing the Way." Mr. Hull's text was "Blessed are they who keep the roads in shape." An interesting discussion was given on the question of good roads, and the fact was brought out that if it were not for the good roads and the automobiles that the banquet could hardly have been such a success.

W. B. Gex's talk on sociability was very interesting, and all might take a lesson from the people on route 1. The telephone and the mail carrier were two very important factors in promoting the good feeling that exists out that way.

Mr. D. R. Eversole, who was the next speaker, gave the farmers a few pointers on how to be successful. Mr. Eversole maintains that the farmer should go home now, after the short course, and give all these things which they have heard this week a try and farm according to some definite plan. Two other things that are well to remember are to cut out laziness and to systematize your town coming.

One of the noticeable things of the feast was the Union township representation, who were seated at one table, which was decorated by their good roads banner. They all came from Pickering in cars especially for the banquet. The members of the party were E. D. Houston, C. G. McMillen, Omar Strong, J. Hutcheson, R. Wray, H. Wray, M. H. Hall, C. G. Swinford, C. C. Moon, O. G. Null, C. B. Leach, G. H. Swaney, Prof. G. W. Somerville, F. M. Wallis, I. Neal, H. Rutherford, J. L. Neal, W. Hinton, J. Everhart, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Pollock of Trenton, Mo.; J. Braniger, F. Alexander, Fred Monroe of Hopkins, J. A. Wiley and Omer Wray.

OLD CITIZEN DEAD

ELIJAH FORD A VICTIM OF GRIP FRIDAY NIGHT.

THE FUNERAL MONDAY

Last Rites Then For Father of J. A. Ford—Had Been a Resident of County Over Half a Century.

Elijah Ford, well known as one of the best men of our county, passed away at midnight Friday night, at his home, corner of First and Market streets, of grip, after an illness of eight days. Mr. Ford had been in feeble health several years, and his weakened body, together with the general decline incident to old age, was not able to rally from the attack.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, conducted by Rev. S. D. Harkness.

Mr. Ford was a native of Pulaski county, Kentucky, and was born at Somerset, October 3, 1827. He grew to manhood there, and soon after decided to try his fortune in Northwest Missouri, to where many from his section of Kentucky were emigrating. He settled first at Savannah in 1852, and a short time later came to Nodaway county to locate, but returned to Savannah. In 1856 he came to Nodaway county and bought a farm four miles east of Maryville, which he brought to a high state of cultivation, the farm being known as the Highland Park stock farm. Mr. Ford was one of the most prosperous farmers in the county. March 8, 1861, he married Miss Catherine McClain, a native of Nodaway county. Their wedding was one of the most notable of that day and was attended by so many people that it was said the whole of Nodaway county were the wedding guests. They had one child, James A. Ford of this city, who survives with the mother.

About thirty years ago Mr. Ford sold his farm and moved to Maryville and lived at 506 East First street, and six years ago purchased the property at the corner of First and Market streets, which was his home at the time of his death.

Mr. Ford was one of the most unassuming of men, and only those who knew him well were aware of his strength of character, and his gentleness and kindness under all circumstances was as tender as that of a woman. The sympathy of all will go out to his wife, especially, who for nearly fifty-two years has been a sweet, true, constant companion to him.

FUNERAL SATURDAY.

Services Were Held at Family Home Southeast of Skidmore.

The funeral services for Jacob Baugher, who died Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock at his home, six miles southeast of Skidmore, were held Saturday morning at the family home at 10 o'clock by Rev. C. H. Sauceman of the M. E. church, South, at Craig.

The pallbearers were P. P. Shull, W. A. Little, Riley Dakan, J. M. Charles, T. I. McNeil and Albert Forcade.

Mr. Baugher was born in Rockingham county, Va., May 30, 1842, and came to Missouri in 1855, locating in Howard county. Two years later he came to Nodaway county and settled on a farm southeast of Graham. He bought the farm on which he died, which is located six miles southeast of Skidmore, in 1870. It contained 294 acres of raw unimproved land, which he brought to its present high state of cultivation. He was married forty years ago to Miss Samantha Cook, a daughter of the late Fayette Cook of near Skidmore, who survives him. Seven children were born to them, three of whom are deceased. The living children are Mrs. Mary Sutterlin of Graham; George E. Baugher, Mrs. Cora Shull and Mrs. Mary Patterson of Skidmore.

Mrs. Catherine Brady has sold her residence property, corner of Davis and Jenkins streets, to John Wertz, consideration $1,000.

WOODROW GOT IT

ALL DOUBTS CLEARED UP AS TO NEXT PRESIDENT.

BUILDING THE CABINET

Official Washington Has Its Hands Full, But Still Finds Time to Suggest Names.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The last lap in the race for president of the United States was run today and Woodrow Wilson is at last elected. The electoral college met, canvassed the votes of the several states and formally declared an election. This proceeding is accompanied with considerable red tape and a suitable amount of senatorial dignity. Precisely at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, as the constitution prescribes, the members of the senate journey over to the house, the house suspends business, the speaker delivers his gavel over to the president pro tem. of the senate and the two branches of the congress go into joint session.

On this particular occasion Senator Bacon of Georgia presided, and stated with great seriousness that the business at hand was of such profound importance and significance that any applause from any source would not be in order and would violate all the precedents. This injunction was strictly observed until Utah cast four votes for William Howard Taft, when somebody started applause, and it spread to all parts of the room. It was the first crumb that had fallen his way. Two tellers were appointed from the senate and two from the house. Senator Dillingham of Vermont and Senator Martine of New Jersey, and Representatives Rucker of Missouri and Young of Michigan were the tellers, and announced the votes of the states by turns.

This proceeding consumed about an hour and a half, when the list of states was completed, and Senator Bacon declared that Woodrow Wilson had received 435 of the 531 votes cast for president. Theodore Roosevelt of New York had received 88 votes and William H. Taft had received 8 votes. The Taft electors voted for Nicholas Murray Butler of New York for vice president, Vice President Sherman having died. The formal announcements were ordered on the journals of the senate and house and they shall be deemed a sufficient declaration of the election. There is no further notice given to the president-elect. The nominees of the political parties are notified of their nominations by special messengers, but the newly elected president must take newspaper accounts for his notice or come down and search the journals of the house and senate.

A significant featur of the proceedings was that they fell on Lincoln's birthday. So the day commemorates the emancipation of the people in the fullest sense.

Governor Wilson may now feel justified in announcing his cabinet and thus relieve himself of a great deal of annoyance and the public of much curiosity. The only announcements so far made are Mr. Tumulty, with the accent on the Tum, who will be the president's secretary, and he in turn has selected Daniel O'Reagan for his secretary. This beginning indicates that the sons of the emerald isle will be well cared for, and both hail from the state of New Jersey. The cabinet makers are as much in the dark as ever. There are a number of slates announced as the final guesses, but nothing official has gotten into the capitol yet. There is a rumor that the cabinet will be announced this week. During the past two weeks there has been considerable politics apparent in the work of the house, with two opposing forces at work, one to promote certain cabinet timber and the other industriously deadening it. The state of Texas, for instance, has two candidates for the cabinet in the persons of Representatives Henry and Burleson. Pennsylvania has also two prospects in the persons of Representatives Palmer and Wilson. There has been a persistent rumor for weeks that ex-Senator Obediah Gardner of Maine would be made secretary of agriculture. Mr. Gardner is a good man and a good Democrat, but it has been difficult for the residents of the great central west to believe that a man from Maine would be given the post of secretary of agriculture. Many from the Mississippi valley have been urging the appointment of Jack Walters, formerly of Missouri but now with the Kansas agricultural college.

The situation in Mexico begins to look serious. Mr. Taft has been temporizing with the case, hoping to unload it onto the next administration, but he may yet have to take positive action. His foreign policy, as evidenced in Venezuela, Mexico and elsewhere, is spineless and wholly insufficient. From recent reports revolution has given way in Mexico to anarchy, in which American citizens and property are in great danger. There is little doubt that certain American interests are responsible for the beginning of the whole affair, and it may be that we will have to put an end to it yet. Somebody, it is said, got $60,000 when a revolution was being plotted against Diaz, and the promoters of the trouble have plainly started something that Mexico cannot stop, and it may cost this government millions to do so.

Work is going ahead for the inauguration. Great reviewing stands are being erected at a cost of thousands of dollars, and the beauty of the city is very much disfigured. From the number of applications already in for rooms a record breaking crowd is expected. Prices are soaring skyward and the hotel keepers are in high glee. The great quadrennial harvest is near at hand.

The opponents of the liquor traffic feel that they have gained a great victory this week. Both house and senate have passed the Webb bill to "divest alcoholic liquors of their interstate commerce character in certain cases," which means that hereafter, if the president signs the bill, it will be unlawful to ship liquors into prohibition states for any purpose not authorized by the laws of those states. It means that such shipments will become subject to the laws of the state into which they are shipped, and the measure is designed to remove the protecting arm of the federal government upon which law breakers have been frequently wont to rely. Of course there are legal features which will have to be put to the test and on which good lawyers seem to disagree, but, as a matter of common justice, it seems that the people of every state should have the privilege of regulating such matters according to their own wisdom and in their own way without any hindrance from the federal government. The measure is not as far reaching as the Kenyon-Sheppard bill which was pending in the senate, but its friends seem to believe that it will reach the desired end.

Ancient Story With a Modern Message.

"The Creation of Man" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday night at the First M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox.

What does the Bible say about the origin of man? What is the standing of the message in the light of modern knowledge? What bearing has the message upon present day life?

These are some of the questions that will be advanced in the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lorance and Etta Lorance arrived home Friday night from Corpus Christi, Texas. Miss Ruby Lorance, who teaches in Johnson county, Missouri, met her parents in Kansas City and accompanied them home. She will return to her school work Sunday.

WRITES OF THE OIL FIELDS.

Rev. Royston of Barnard Tells of a Trip to Cleveland, Okla., Wells.

Rev. W. E. Royston, pastor of the M. E. church at Barnard, has written the following special letter to the Democrat-Forum about a trip to the oil fields at Cleveland, Oklahoma:

Editor Democrat-Forum:—I will write you a letter on the Oklahoma oil fields which I hope may be of some interest to the Democrat-Forum readers.

On Thursday, January 16, 1913, my brother, Rev. F. R. Royston, and I visited the oil fields at Cleveland where there are 1,000 wells. The first oil well we came to was about six miles west of Cleveland. As we came in sight of this well we could see what we supposed was a fog of steam rolling up through the derrick, and as we neared the derrick we could hear a sizzling sound like that of a mighty steam engine with her escape valves thrown wide open. But when we came to the well we found that the escaping mist and turbulent sounds were nothing more than the earth belching up her oil and gas through iron pipes from a depth of about twenty-four hundred feet. The ground was saturated with oil for several rods around the well, and running down the ravines. We wondered at such a waste, but upon inquiry we were told that a man would be there in a day or two and pipe it out into tanks—for the well was new.

After we satisfied our curiosity there we drove on, passing by huge rocks here and there that lay along the road in ledges and crowned the hilltops with veneration.

Soon we reached the summit of a certain hill four miles this side of Cleveland, and as our eyes were focused toward the southeast, we could see oil derricks by the hundreds seemingly towering the skies. As we looked upon this magnificient net work of derricks with their heads lifted high, we were reminded of a large city in the distance with her lofty domes and reaching steeples.

As we neared Cleveland we could hear the rush and roar of business, equal to that of a large city. After we arrived in the little city of about twenty-five hundred inhabitants, we at once visited several of the seventy-five oil wells in the city. Most of these wells are pumped with large gasoline engines. We think in Missouri that a pump reaching down to a depth of 150 feet after water is great, but think of a pump reaching down after oil to a depth of more than 2,000 feet.

Some of the wells that have gas pressure don't have to be pumped, and the oil runs as freely as water from an artesian well. The largest well of this field has a daily output of 20,000 barrels of oil and requires four 3-inch pipes to tank it. This is now one of the largest oil wells in the United States.

The oil from this region is all sent to eastern refineries, and then tanked and sent to all parts of the world with John D's stamp upon it. However, a large refinery is now under construction at Cleveland and this will make this region a great oil center in the United States.

Land owners of this region are anxious to lease their farms to oil prospecters. One man thinking that I was an eastern capitalist wanted to lease me his farm, but when I informed him that I was a preacher he hushed right up. The oil prospecter leases property of the owner with the privilege of sinking a well where he pleases, giving the owner a small rent on the property and one eighth of the oil if any is found.

After having spent a profitable day in the oil fields we returned home to Blackburn where I was helping my brother in a meeting.

Yours truly,
W. E. ROYSTON.

Valentine Masquerade.

Over 100 people were in attendance at the Valentine masquerade party given Thursday night by the Alert Rebekah lodge. The committee in charge had decorated Odd Fellows' hall appropriately and suitable games, such as Knight of the Black Heart, a potato race, a peanut race and dominoes were provided for all. There was music throughout the evening and a luncheon served in the Rebekah colors, pink and white. The very nice diversion of the evening was the fortune telling tent, fitted up in real gypsy style and Mrs. I. M. Woods made a most satisfactory fortune teller. Mrs. Roy Martin was awarded the first prize for the best costume and Cacey Jones was awarded the second prize.

Surprise Their Neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Patterson, living seven miles northwest of the city, were surprised Wednesday by their neighbors who came to spend the day with them, bringing baskets filled with good things to eat for the dinner that was spread at 12 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are soon to leave the neighborhood, and this was the occasion of the visit to their old neighbors and friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. McDowell, Mrs. Al Taylor and son, A. J. Kinsley, Mr. and Mrs. John Halasey, Mrs. Elihu Shell, Mrs. Lon Hughes and son, Mrs. Bije Lawson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Osborn, Mrs. L. J. Onstott, Mrs. Maurice Brennan, Miss Lydia Onstott, Perry Onstott, Cecil Lawson, Irvin and Wm. Patterson.

Birthday Surprise Party.

About twenty-five friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Nan Cooper Thursday and gave her a very pleasant surprise in honor of her sixty-third birthday. Well filled baskets were brought and at noon a delicious dinner was served. The afternoon was spent in playing progressive forty-two. Mrs. Cooper was given a handkerchief shower, and at a late hour the guests departed to their home wishing her many happy returns of the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manley, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Ora Carmichael, Mrs. Irvin Peery, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hartness, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Piveral, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Arnold, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Gray, Grandma Gray, Mrs. Chester, Mrs. Drain, Mr. and Mrs. James Gregg, Beulah Hartness, Lucile Drain, Roberta Arnold, Harry Piveral, Milo Gray, Clyde Gregg, Eugene Cooper, Everett Drain, Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper and the honored one.

Valentine Party and Luncheon.

Miss Vernie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomas, entertained twenty-two of her friends with a valentine party Friday evening. Assisting her in entertaining and serving were her sister, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Ethel Ray, Miss Lora Stockton and Miss Mina Armstrong. The rooms were profusely decorated in hearts, smilax, ferns and red carnations, and before the evening closed the hostess had by some magic means succeeded in decorating each of her guests with hearts. Progfessive dominoes occupied the first part of the evening, Miss Hermion Fisher and Mr. John McDougal winning the prizes. Various other games were played. The three-course luncheon was novel and elaborate, the word "Hearts" being spelled in the serving. The guests were Misses Hermion Fisher, Ilene Kemp, Gladys Holt, Isora Mutz, Jeannette Mutz, Alma Lucas, Lola Wright, Vada Foland, Helen Helply, Hazel Smith, Golda Roelofson, Ethel Ray, Messrs. Virgil Lyle, Jack Holt, Hallie Ford, Walter Fraser, Harold Staples, Ray Foland, Aubrey Lyle, Abner Johnson, Edward Condon, Walter Dersch, Robert Brown, John McDougal.

Surprise Valentine Class Parties.

The classes taught by Mrs. L. O. Goble and Mr. Fred Kurtz in the First Presbyterian church Sunday school were very pleasantly surprised Thursday evening. Mrs. Goble had invited the young ladies of her class to a Valentine party at her home that evening and Mr. Kurtz had invited the boys of his class to spend the evening at his home. When the young ladies arrived at Mrs. Goble's home she told them she had been invited to bring her guests to Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz's home. The surprise of the two crowds of young people upon meeting each other was funny to see. They soon got their breath, however, and a happy evening was spent playing dominoes. Post card valentines were used as tally cards. The delightful luncheon served was in the form of hearts. The host and hostess were assisted in entertaining by Miss Mabel Wells and Miss Edith Wells. The members of the classes present were Misses Juno Jones, Pearl Barton, Neva Sage, Edith Anderson, Stella Clearman, Ivy Cramer, Nina Jackson, Laura Craig, Mary Lewis, Mary Watson, Jeanette Cottrill, Miss Thompson, Edith Dietz, Lois Farmer, and Messrs. Floyd Cottrill, Jay Barr, John Murray, James Ferris, Fred Hutchison, Kirker Sawyers, Mr. Lash, Robert Brown, Fred Vandersloot, Harvey Watson, and Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Harkness, who were the honor guests of the evening.

Wesleyan Class Valentine Party.

Quite the most successful social event by the Wesleyan class of the First M. E. church Sunday school was given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Matter, 222 West Thompson street, their daughter, Miss Ruth Matter, being a member of the class. The various committees appointed for the affair had done their work so well that everything went off in perfect harmony. The guests were met at the door by Mary Curnutt and received by the class teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth French, and the class president, Miss Nellie Wray. They then went to the dining room, where they were served hot chocolate and wafers by Mrs. Emmett Scott, Mrs. Charles Moore and Miss Ruth Matter. The decoration committee, which was also the entertainment committee, had performed its work well. All the rooms, upstairs and down, had been beautified with red hearts and flowers, and the dining table was lighted by red candles, and carnations were used effectively. Miss Mildred Bellows and Miss Mabel Curnutt presented each guest a heart, those for the boys containing directions for making answer to a proposal—for partners at the games and luncheon. The game of hearts was the game played, and as each one won a game a candy heart was given that permitted the winner to go to the candy store and buy more candy with it. After the games Miss Edith Wilson played several violin numbers. The luncheon was beautiful, small red hearts decorating each square of ice cream, and cake and nuts were served with it. The entertainment committee was composed of Miss Lucile Airy, Miss Lela Caudle and Miss Ada Clayton, and Miss Edna O'Neal and Miss Ora King were the invitation committee. The guests were Misses Neva Airy, Lucile Airy, Allie Fraser, Emma Crandall, Ada Clayton, Bird Briggs, Cleo Grundy, Lorena Holliday, Ora King, Ola King, Edith Wilson, Nellie Wray, Marie Grundy, Lela Caudle, Edna O'Neal, Mary Fordyce, Ethel Embree, Ruby Curnutt, Carrie Margaret Baker, Glen Hotchkiss, Dale Hoffman, Hildred Hanna, Ruth Matter, Alice Ficklin, Mrs. Elizabeth French, Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert S. BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS

If Constipated, Bilious, Headachy, Stomach Sour, Get a 10 Cent Box of Cascarets—Take One Tonight.

You men and women who can't get to feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regulated and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.—Advertisement.

NORMAL WON OVER CENTRAL.

And High School Defeated Blanchard Team in Games Friday Night.

Maryville basket ball teams made a clean sweep of basket ball honors Friday night at the Normal gymnasium, when the local high school team defeated the Blanchard high school five in a fast, well played game and the Normals again defeated St. Joseph Central high school in what proved to be a battle of free throws. The score of the Blanchard-high school game was 21 to 17, and the Normal-Central count was 44 to 36.

The two high school teams were seemingly well matched, and all through the locals led from the very start. At no time were the Iowans out of the running. The losers were especially strong in the second half, when they all but overtook the locals. Leech at forward and Wilson at guard twinkled for the locals, while Wakinshaw, who occupied the pivot position for the Iowans, seemed to be their main strength.

In the Normal-Central contest a fast exhibition of the game was made impossible by the immense number of fouls called on both teams. A total of 61 fouls were called on the two teams, 39 of which were called on the Normal men and the crowd. Coach Frank Cassidy of the St. Joseph team was the referee, and although the crowd so forgot their manners at times as to shriek words of violence at the official, it is quite evident that Mr. Cassidy called the offenses just as he saw them, and his ability as a referee cannot be questioned.

Twenty of Central's points were scored on free throws, while the locals counted 14 field goals and 13 from the foul line. The team work of the visitors, particularly that of Johnson and Rohloff, featured their playing. Voss caged 13 free throws in 39 chances.

For the locals Mr. "Buzzard" Daise from Graham, Mo., led in the field goal tossing. He counted six, all of which were gotten in the initial period. Perrin counted four from the field and Captain Vandersloot also captured four field goals and 13 out of 22 free throws. McClintoch played a great game at guard and Taylor played an aggressive game, although he was fouled continually.

The Normal warriors created a sensation when they appeared on the floor to start the game. It seems that several of the Normal girls, most of whom are members of the school team, have not been satisfied with the personal appearance of their knights on the basket ball floor, so late Friday afternoon these same girls stole "with cat-like tread" to the boys' lockers, secured their playing jerseys and beautifully bedecked them with lace. Just imagine the effect! When the boys went to dress for the game they discovered the transformation in their armor, but all were good sports and they appeared for the game in their newly acquired garb.

Following are the line-ups and summaries of the two games:

Blanchard—Forwards, Danner and Russell; center, Wakinshaw; guards, Henderson and McGee.

Maryville—Forwards, Leech and Murray; center, Thompson; guards, Wilson and David.

Summary—Field goals, Wakinshaw 4, Leech 3, Wilson 2, David Russell. Free throws, Russell, 7 out of 14. Leech, 8 out of 16. One point was awarded Maryville.

St. Joseph Central—Forwards, Vose and Schroeder; center, Johnson; guards, Rohloff and Stankowski.

Normal—Forwards, Vandersloot and Daise; center, Perrin; guards, McClintoch and Taylor.

Summary—Field goals, Daise 6, Vandersloot 4, Perrin 4, Schroeder 2, Voss 2, Johnson 2, Rohloff, Stankowski.

Three points were awarded each.

Referee—Cassidy, St. Joseph Central.

Umpire—Westbrook, Maryville high school.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

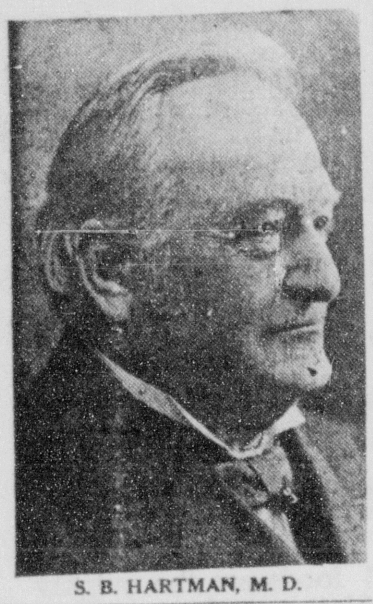
Alcohol In Pe-ru-na-- An Unjust Criticism



S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Having a little business in one of the federal offices of the city, after it was finished I fell in conversation with the official in charge concerning Peruna. I mention his business to show that the conversation was conducted with a man of more than ordinary intelligence, being a employe of the government who had passed through several civil service examinations. He said to me, not knowing who I was:

"I think a great deal of this patent medicine business ought to be stopped. Especially such remedies as Peruna. Peruna, as you know, is a stimulant and contains eighteen or twenty per cent. of alcohol. People take it without knowing what it is, and such remedies ought to be prohibited by law. My own mother took Peruna once. She had a cough, night sweats, was growing emaciated and weak. Several doctors examined her. The opinion was expressed several times that she was going into consumption. One thought it was chronic bronchitis. At any rate, her condition was quite serious. She was unable to get any relief from the doctors she consulted, although she took their medicines faithfully for nearly a year. Some one told her about Peruna, and against my wish and against the wishes of our family, she began taking it. At once she improved, and in less than six months she apparently was well. We did all we could to discourage her in taking Peruna, but she persisted. It finally came out in the magazines that Peruna contained alcohol. Then we knew at once what it was that benefited my mother, it was simply the alcohol that Peruna contained. We had the laugh on mother. We have not ceased to make fun of her yet about her being cured with a dilution of alcohol. She seems to be embarrassed by our teasing her, but is very stubborn. She says that if she were to be sick in the same way again she would certainly get Peruna and take it, alcohol or no alcohol. So you see if people will persist in such foolishness there ought to be a law to prevent them."

I ventured to interpose a question. "You say the doctors could not cure her, and yet you say Peruna did cure her. What difference does it make to you whether it was alcohol or some other drug that effected the cure?"

"Well, I don't know that it makes any difference, but it is deceiving the people to give them alcohol even though it does cure them," he said.

I replied. "Why, I cannot exactly understand that. Alcohol is a drug, the same as quinine or morphin. If alcohol cures certain diseases where is the deception? I understand that the Peruna people print on the label of each bottle the per cent. of alcohol contained in Peruna. Each patient may read it, if he pleases. I cannot see where there is any deception."

"Well, I would not take Peruna," he persisted. "Now, I was sick, I had a stomach disease. A violent pain, that would come on about an hour or two after each meal. It grew worse and worse. I was also constipated. I consulted several doctors in our city about my health. I went to see a prominent specialist in New York City, paid out a great deal of money, but no help. One time I was having a bad spell on the train. The gentleman who occupied the next seat was a retired physician with whom I had been acquainted. He said to me, 'My friend, if you want to get well I would advise you to take a glass of lager beer before each meal. I think that will cure you.' Having followed the directions of several good physicians without any assistance, I thought I would try the beer. In a very short time I found it was helping me, and I got entirely well. My bowels became regular and I had no more pain. No more distress after meals. Now, if my mother had used some remedy like that it would be all right. But to persist in using some secret remedy like Peruna, I think it is outrageous."

Again I ventured to ask some questions. I asked: "What do you suppose it was in the lager beer that effected the cure?"

"Why, I presume it was the stimulant it contained. Yes, no doubt it was the stimulant."

"You know, of course, that the stimulant in beer is alcohol, the same as in wine or whiskey or any other alcoholic drink?"

"Yes, I have heard say that beer contains about five per cent. of alcohol.

"That is correct," I replied. "You took a bottle of beer before each meal, did you?"

"Yes."

"In doing so you were drinking a pint of a five per cent. solution of alcohol."

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Five per cent. would be one-twentieth. As each pint contains sixteen ounces you were then taking a little less than an ounce of alcohol before each meal."

"Yes."

"But you objected to your mother's taking alcohol in the Peruna, and yet she was taking far less alcohol than you were. As I understand it, the dose of Peruna is one tablespoonful. Supposing it to be twenty per cent. alcohol, there would be in each dose one-fifth of a tablespoonful of alcohol, which would be about half a teaspoonful, while you were taking at least four teaspoonfuls of alcohol in your bottle of beer. And yet you objected to your mother's taking Peruna on the ground that the Peruna contains alcohol. In my opinion t was the alcohol that cured both of you. Your mother evidently was cured of a very serious ailment. Peruna contains alcohol. It was undoubtedly the alcohol that cured her, or at least helped to. The other ingredients of Peruna might have assisted, no doubt did. In your case it was the alcohol in the beer that cured you of the stomach difficulty. Peruna has cured thousands of such cases."

"Well, I declare," he replied, "I never thought of it in that way before. There has been so much said about alcohol being poisonous that I suppose my mind has been prejudiced against it. But if as you say there is also alcohol in beer, the same kind of alcohol as is used in Peruna, I cannot see where the difference is myself."

"Well," I replied, "you have been doing exactly what the average man and woman is doing. You have allowed your mind to become prejudiced against Peruna on account of its containing alcohol. Without stopping to look into the matter at all you have assumed that there is something terribly disreputable about remedies containing alcohol. The fact is, however, that most all fluid medicines, whether prescribed by a doctor or put up as a patent medicine, contain a certain amount of alcohol. It was alcohol that cured your mother. It was alcohol that cured you. In my opinion, alcohol in some form or other is making more cures than all other drugs combined. This is not saying, however, that Peruna contains only alcohol, for it does contain excellent remedies besides alcohol. But I do contend that the alcohol in Peruna is not only not harmful to those who take it, but if taken in the doses prescribed on the bottle it will do a great deal of good and there is not the slightest danger of forming a drug habit." PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say: this formula is now put out under the name of KA-TAR-NO, manufactured by KA-TAR-NO Company, Columbus Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

BAND STANDS GOOD CHANCE.

To Go to Washington, D. C., for the Suffragettes' Parade March 3.

Miss Alma Nash, director of the Missouri Ladies Military band, received a letter and a telegram Friday from Elizabeth I. Kent of Washington, D. C., chairman of the band committee for the suffragettes' parade at the nation's capital March 3, saying that the 300 Chicago women who expect to be in the parade that day would be asked to help in securing the funds for the expenses of the Maryville Ladies band of Maryville to Washington.

Mrs. Kent writes most encouragingly to Miss Nash, and seems determined to secure the Maryville girls a place in the parade.

Miss Nash also received a letter Friday from Miss Jennie Swavely of Philadelphia, who spent several months in Maryville, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nash, and is quite well known here, in which she inclosed a letter from Miss Della Reboul of Philadelphia, who has quite a reputation in the east as a leader of ladies bands, in which she told Miss Swavely that Alma Nash's band has the first chance for a place in the parade, and there was no use for her to try getting anyone in for herself.

Miss Nash studied under Miss Reboul several years ago when she was in the east, as a member of her band at Atlantic City, and it is indeed a peculiar incident that her pupil should be able to beat her to such a good chance, with a band of young girls that have been organized but little more than a year and with no experience whatever.

Two traveling passenger agents have also visited Miss Nash this week, giving her the best rates that can be secured for the trip to Washington, and offering themselves to act as escort and look after every detail of the trip. They were Mr. D. D. Steeg of Kansas City, traveling passenger agent for the Pennsylvania railway west of the Mississippi, and Mr. George T. Scheer of St. Louis, traveling passenger agent for the Baltimore & Ohio railway.

Everything seems very encouraging for the ladies band, and we hope all will be done that is necessary to secure for them this wonderful opportunity. The Maryville Commercial club is making every effort possible, for if the girls do go they will put Maryville on the map sure.

Mrs. Paul Sawyers of St. Joseph returned to her home Friday evening after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Roelofson.

Mrs. P. J. Lahr went to Pickering Friday to visit her mother, Mrs. Rose Harman.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not leep, and was as near crazy as a man ould well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."

PRESIDENT MADERO RESIGNS

Change of Administration in Mexico.

DE LA BARRA SUCCEEDS

Minister of Interior Hernandez Also Quits His Job.

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—The resignation of Francisco I. Madero from the presidency is believed to be in the hands of the Mexican congress. It was authoritatively stated that Madero had agreed to resign if the senate so wished. The senate was called into session to take action on this important phase of the situation.

At the British legation, where Senor De La Barra took refuge Thursday, it was said that Madero's resignation practically had been arranged for and that De La Barra probably would succeed him in the presidency.

Later Senor De La Barra, while proceeding through the streets in an automobile, stopped and made a brief address, assuring the crowds that a peace settlement was certain and probably would be reached before evening. De La Barra had been in consultation with both Madero and Diaz regarding a quick settlement in order to avoid intervention.

The laws of Mexico make it necessary for the resignation of the president to be submitted to the congress and for this reason official announcement of the resignation of Madero may be delayed considerably, even if already decided upon.

Another development was the resignation of Rafael Hernandez as minister of the interior.

Whether hostilities will be resumed naturally depends on the action of the president and congress.

Madero's Home Burned.

The rebels obtained their first personal revenge when they burned the private house of President Madero, located at Berlin and Liverpool streets. It was a handsome structure and since the incumbency of Madero had become one of the show places of the capital.

The rebels had driven a detachment of federals in retreat along Barcelona street. They emerged on Liverpool street, the rebels at their heels.

Shooting and firing at the fleeing soldiers, the rebels crowded into the aristocratic quarter and the sight of Madero's house inspired the idea of its destruction. Only servants had occupied the house since the members of the president's family took refuge in the Japanese legation.

The rebels entered and carried off whatever caught their fancy. A moment later the building was in flames.

Engagement at Close Range.

A change of tactics marked the close of the military operations. The artillery duel was succeeded by a general engagement at close range, lasting for more than an hour. Federal reserves were called out and from all sides General Huerta prepared to attack. Short range cannon were moved closer to the fortifications, but the battery of heavy guns near the railway station was left to play a prominent part.

The rebels interfered but little with the preparations. They appeared willing for the fight and when it was inaugurated seemed not averse to try conclusions.

Buildings within rifle range of the rebel positions sheltered machine guns and infantry, while heavy detachments massed in the streets approaching the positions from east and west.

Rifles Take Many Lives.

When the government forces began this attack the cannon and small arms of the rebels were put into quick action. In two minutes the city was listening to a new note in the long symphony of battle. The heavy crashing of artillery, to which the inhabitants had become accustomed, was toned down by the rattle of rifle and machine gun fire.

How many fell in this engagement cannot be told, but the number was undoubtedly large. The federal loss was unquestionably greater than that of the rebels.

Occasionally shells from the federal battery at the station fell with accuracy in the big plaza in front of the arsenal. Little damage was done to the structure itself.

The federals were at a disadvantage, because they were compelled to advance, and to do so they had to leave their shelter and crowd into the streets.

It had been said that the Maderistas had planned to dynamite a path through the district in order to make this attack, but if so the plan was abandoned and the attacking party in the narrow streets was swept by the rebel guns with deadly and demoralizing results.

It was the advance of the federals down Balderas street which provoked the first sharp reply from the mutinous zone. Diaz waited until the federals were far down the line, then threw into their ranks a hail of shrapnel and swept them with machine-gun fire. Few left the street alive.

The government troops attempted to carry the rebel position from other directions, but always with the same result; the federals fell with a withering fire or were driven back to shelter.

General De La Vega, commanding the line directly to the east of the rebel position, admitted that he was unable to advance. Failure had been encountered in all quarters. It was coincidental with the cessation of firing that a battalion of the Twentieth infantry revolted. All but a handful of those federals succeeded in joining the rebel ranks.
